Autumn, the season of mists and mellow fruitfulness, and at Fishpools they are preparing to slow down, mellow out and relax in an oasis of calm. Colours are soft, fabrics are sumptuous and woods are warm and rich with subtle textures and tones. They've been around for 111 years now providing inspiration and glamour in their 60,000 square foot store with over 200 gorgeous room sets, stocking a mind blowing variety of products. Over 200 sofa styles, 150 ranges of dining tables and chairs, 100's of beds, 75 ranges of bedroom furniture, and a huge carpets and rugs department; not to mention the huge choice of curtains, mirrors, cookware and home accessories. They've been very busy over the summer with a major refurbishment in key areas of the store. Read all about it on the back cover of this paper.

Fishpools prides itself on their well trained, knowledgeable people who can point you in the right direction and help you leave the store with the furniture that meets your needs. They will guide you through all the options available and you'll never be pressured into making a purchase. You will be provided with as much information as you need to make the right choice. Always consider what you expect from your furniture. What kind of wear and tear will it have to withstand? Is style or comfort your main priority? Finally, if you're looking for true comfort and durability, spend as much as you can afford. After all the old saying is still true; you do only get what you pay for.

GIRL (5) INJURED IN HORSE 'ATTACK'

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A COUNCILLOR has warned walkers to be on their guard after a horse attacked his five-year-old daughter while she was with her mother in a field.

The large white and brown animal tethered in the field near Collins Meadow bit councillor Bob Davis' daughter Ruby and then tossed her 5ft into the air after she tried to feed it a handful of grass on Sunday.

Ruby's mother, Susana Serer, said: "One moment Ruby had her hand out with some grass and the next moment she was in the air. She was thrown five feet in the air."

"Then she started screaming and I pulled her towards me and away from the horse. Luckily her screams seemed to scare it away."

The bite drew blood and left Ruby in severe pain.

A couple out walking helped carry her from the field near Jean McAlpine Park to Slacksbury Hatch. From there they were taken to the NHS walk-in centre in Hamstel Road.

Her parents, of Fold Croft, said they wanted to warn others about the dangers of approaching horses.

"It had been a lovely day," said Susana. "We had fed about 10 horses and there was no problem but maybe we got a bit over-confident."

"It all happened in the blink of an eye. There was no indication that the horse was unhappy."

Mr Davis added: "I can see that it was an unfortunate incident but it could have been fatal. If a big horse stamps on you it could kill you. I'd advise people to just stay away."

He has now asked council officers about the authority's policy on keeping horses on public land.

Joel Charles, chairman of the council's community and citizenship working group, said: "I am sorry to hear that Cllr Davis' young daughter was injured by a tethered horse. This incident must have been distressing for both mother and daughter and I wish them well.

"We would back this warning and advise people not to approach or feed any horse in a field."

He added: "The council's policy on horse grazing on public land is enforced and if we receive a complaint about a particular horse we will make contact with the owners for it to be moved."

Developers push ahead with plan for new housing

PLANS to build hundreds of homes on a swathe of Harlow farmland are back on the agenda with the launch of a second public consultation on the proposals.

A development consortium comprising Taylor Wimpey, Barratt Strategic and Permission Homes are hoping to build 1,200 properties on 49 hectares of wheat fields bordering Gilden Way, Harlowbury Chapel and The Gibberd Garden on Marsh Lane.

The mixed-use scheme could also include new sports pitches, designated wildlife areas, neighbourhood shops, an enhanced bus service, a public park and even a new primary school.

A public meeting hosted by the developers back in 2007 saw scores of Old Harlow residents register their concerns over the proposed development.

Since then progress has stalled due to the economic downturn.

But yesterday (Wednesday) the consortium signalled its intention to move the

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

project forward with the launch of a new consultation exercise next Tuesday and Wednesday (October 19 & 20) at Mulberry Green Village Hall.

Spokesman Matthew Turpin said the development team wanted to "engage" with residents before submitting a planning application to Harlow Council early next year.

"We consider that the site presents an excellent opportunity to help to address a number of local issues and the scheme proposed would deliver much-needed new homes, over a phased period, valuable open space and recreational facilities, including allotments," he said.

"We hope that local people take the time to attend our exhibition and discuss the proposals with us."

The use of the land for new housing has already been identified in the Local Plan – the planning blueprint for the district – and references to the site were also made in Harlow Council's recently published Growth Plan setting out requirements for the future development of the town.

But Harlow Civic Society chairman and former Harlow MP Stan Newens said his group remained very concerned over the potential impact on neighbouring areas and would be meeting with developers tomorrow (Friday) to discuss the proposals in more detail.

"While we recognise the need for new homes in Harlow, we are concerned that this development will encroach on places like The Gibberd Garden, Harlowbury Chapel and parts of Old Harlow, all real gems the town can rightly be proud of," he said.

"I would never take a not-in-my-backyard approach but I think developers need to listen very carefully to residents' views on the proposals because there is not a lot of public support for these plans."

"I would encourage as many residents as possible to attend next week's consultation to make sure their voices are heard."

Driver dies after 'minor' collision on Fifth Avenue

POLICE are investigating the death of a van driver who collapsed shortly after his vehicle was involved in an accident in Fifth Avenue, Harlow, yesterday morning (Wednesday).

The man fell ill following a minor collision between his Mitsubishi Fuso van and a silver Volkswagen Polo shortly before 9am.

Both vehicles were travelling in heavy traffic on the northbound carriageway of Fifth Avenue and collided just beyond the Sainsbury's roundabout.

The man had exchanged details with a woman driving the Polo following the accident when he collapsed in the road while returning to his vehicle.

The man, who was in his 60s and from Ware, was taken to the Princess Alexandra Hospital but was pronounced dead shortly after arrival.

Fifth Avenue was closed while road policing officers carried out an initial investigation.

Police want to hear from anyone who saw what happened and in particular would like to hear from the driver of an Aston Martin who might be an important witness.

Anyone who can help should contact PC Garry Stansbie at Chigwell Road Policing Unit on 0300 333 4444.

THANK YOU: Council chairman Sue Livings presents Mr Wyndham with his award, watched by members of the consumer and customer services team (photo: HAR0684206)

'Grimebuster' John given a civic award

A COMMUNITY champion has received an award for his commitment to combating environmental crime in Harlow.

John Wyndham was presented with a certificate, gift voucher and engraved wine glass by Harlow Council chairwoman Sue Livings at a ceremony in the Civic Centre.

Mr Wyndham, who regularly provided the authority's community safety team with information on fly-tipping and graffiti, is now moving to sheltered accommodation in Eastbourne to be closer to his family.

Joel Charles, chairman of the council's community & citizenship policy working group, said: "Mr Wyndham has been a great asset to the community by helping to combat environmental crimes in the town and will be sorely missed by the council."

"Thanks to his information we have been able to take action against fly-tippers. He also provided reports on the condition of underpasses he regularly used and reported any graffiti to us."

"The council can't be everywhere all the time so people like Mr Wyndham are the eyes and ears of the town and the information they provide makes a huge difference."

Do you know why Norman was in town?

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE name Mr Grimsdale will forever be remembered by all who ever watched one of the loveable clown Norman Wisdom's films.

But following the sad death last week of Sir Norman at the ripe old age of 95, we are asking our readers if they remember him visiting Harlow.

Former Harlow Star deputy editor Bridget McAlpine got in touch with Nostalgia to make us aware of one visit, although she was too young to remember any details.

"He paid a very high profile visit to Harlow in the 1950s when he was an absolutely huge star," she said.

"I seem to recall it was a gala night at the Odeon cinema. It may even have been the official opening of the cinema.

"It's impossible to explain how big pint-sized Norm was in the 1950s – national treasure status. I'm sure loads of Harlow people will remember him coming to the town."

Sir Norman returned to Harlow in August 1990 when his national tour – The Legendary Norman Wisdom – arrived at The Playhouse. Also on the bill were Tony Fayne and Lyn Paul, who used to be a member of the New Seekers. Meanwhile, Moorfield resident Alfred Lubbock has made a case for being Sir Norman's number one fan in Harlow.

Alfred, pictured above with Norman in Wembley, north west London, is the spitting image of his idol and has even performed his own slapstick impersonation show.

● Do you remember Sir Norman's visit to Harlow back in the 1950s? Or were you in the audience at his Playhouse show? Send your memories and photographs to Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow CM20 1JW or email daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Cyril Drake

MORE information has come to light about former Harlow scientist Cyril Drake and his discovery of the so-called "miracle" substance Vitrilease in the 1980s.

Last week his daughter Katie Dunn told us more about his work and about family life.

This week Vi Maile, from Nortel Archives, told us more about Vitrilease, known as a "controlled release glass" which was developed at Standard Telecommunication Laboratories in London Road.

Vi writes: "The Pilkington company eventually bought all the rights to the technology and Cyril Drake joined them. It is likely that Vitrilease was their proprietary name for one version of the product.

"The technology is still widely used today in the areas which were foreseen – human and animal medicine, disease control and precision industrial processes where controlled amounts of chemicals must be dispensed equally over time."

The site in London Road opened in 1959 when STL, the main research laboratories of Standard Telephones and Cables Limited moved there from Enfield.

STC was acquired by Nortel which remained on the site until July of this year. The London Road site now operates as a business campus. Sheila and Doug Marchant, of Ladyshot, also contacted Nostalgia to share interesting information about Cyril.

"He will always be remembered not only for his amazing invention, but also for his commitment to a better world for all," they said.

"He was involved in both the Anti-Nazi League and the anti-apartheid movement. He was a scientist, a philosopher, a great thinker, a committed socialist and Marxist.

"His work on Vitrilease was done in close co-operation with the World Health Organisation."

They added: "We cannot say what happened with the invention Vitrilease, but we fervently hope that it is being used in Africa to help people to better health and ultimately to a better life. That's what Cyril would have wanted."

Centre bomb hoax

Thousands of shoppers were evicted from the Harvey Centre after a man telephoned to say there was a bomb in the mall. The centre was closed for an hour while police searched the building.

Toy shop closes

With computers and electronic games turning the toy market on its head, a Harlow couple have decided to call it a day after 20 years in the business. Elsie and Albert "Rod" Rodriguez have retired from their shop Rod's Cycles and Toys in The Stow.

Trolley bays

A scheme to rid the town of abandoned shopping trolleys is to be introduced by Christmas. Three major stores and the Commission for New Towns are to introduce trolley bays with locking systems throughout the town.

Search for buskers

An army of buskers is being recruited by the Harvey Centre to entertain shoppers. Manager David Hayes came up with the plan for drafting in street entertainers after visiting Covent Garden.

Swimming pool stone saved for posterity

HANDOVER: Paula Parsons of Croudace returns the commemorative stone to Harlow councillor Simon Carter

THE foundation stone commemorating the first bricks laid at Harlow's now abandoned swimming pool has been handed back to the council as demolition crews pave the way for a new housing development on the First Avenue site.

The stone was laid by former Harlow Council chairman E.W. Buckle on March 5, 1960 to mark the start of work on the pool, which opened to the public in August of the following year.

Development firm Croudace, which purchased the site earlier this year with the intention of building more than 60 new homes, returned the stone to the council on Tuesday. It will now be placed near the Town Park paddling pool to mark the former location of the swimming pool.

Councillor Simon Carter said: "The old swimming pool was an iconic building in the heart of the town and whilst we are sorry to see it go, we must move forward. We have an outstanding new pool facility at the Leisurezone."

"The development of this site is a positive sign that the council is making regeneration and housing, particularly social housing, a high priority."

Paula Parsons, group marketing executive at Croudace, said: "We recognise that our site is a high-profile location within the town and to reflect this we have exciting plans for a top quality, contemporary housing scheme which will enhance the area for the long-term benefit of the community."

HARLOW
Star

HARLOW and Uttlesford councils are poised to form a service-sharing partnership which could save taxpayers hundreds of thousands of pounds a year.

Both authorities are recommending in principle the formation of a joint partnership for the administration of council tax, business rates and benefits in a bid to cut costs in anticipation of the Government's public spending review.

The plans will be discussed in detail at Harlow Council's next full council meeting on November 4 and in Uttlesford on October 19.

A feasibility study commissioned in the summer identified a potential cost-saving benefit to both councils of £635,000 a year – £390k for Harlow and £245k for Uttlesford – although more work is needed before figures can be confirmed.

However, the move could result in a number of redundancies at the Civic Centre, while neither authority could confirm how many roles in the proposed partnership would be full-time.

The move would not affect residents' ability to access council tax and benefits services in Harlow.

es in Harlow.

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "In the current financial climate and the continuing focus on providing value for money, councils across the country are exploring different ways to provide services."

"We have recently warned people about how bad the financial situation is and we are developing a plan for dealing with the financial challenges we will face."

"Looking at opportunities to work with neighbouring councils to share services is part of that plan."

If both councils agree to the recommendations, the revenues and benefits services partnership could be taken forward by a joint committee of councillors with immediate effect, with full savings and changes in place by April 2013.

Mr Johnson added: "Entering into such a partnership could save hundreds of thousands of pounds a year whilst maintaining at least the same standard of service performance."

Inquest opens into deaths of London terror bombs victims

AN inquest into the deaths of 52 people killed in the London bombings on July 7, 2005 began this week.

Among the victims was Anne Moffat (48), of Old Harlow. She died in the explosion on a Tube train travelling between Liverpool Street and Aldgate stations.

Ms Moffat was head of marketing and communications for Girlguiding UK.

The hearing at the Royal Courts of Justice was told four suicide bombers armed with homemade explosives packed into rucksacks launched attacks on three Tube trains and a bus.

The proceedings are expected to last up to five months.

Proposals for a new community including homes, a primary school, park, community facilities and infrastructure improvements - Land off Gilden Way, Harlow

Taylor Wimpey BARRATT
PERSIMMON

Public exhibition

As you may be aware, the development consortium comprising Barratt Strategic, Persimmon Homes and Taylor Wimpey, began formulating proposals for land to the north of Gilden Way in 2007 for a mixed-use development featuring new homes, public park and infrastructure improvements amongst other elements. The consortium is now seeking to progress its proposals.

Ahead of any planning application being made and as part of the further development of the proposals, two public exhibitions will be held providing opportunities for community feedback to be obtained. The team would like to invite you to attend the first of these public exhibitions, which will be held on:

Tuesday 19 October and Wednesday 20 October at the Mulberry Green Hall, Old Harlow between 2.00pm and 7.30pm

The team looks forward to discussing the proposals with you and to hearing your views.

Should you have any questions, please call Daniel Hayman or Matthew Turpin on the project's dedicated information line – 0800 298 7040 (during office hours).

Civic dinner has uses

SIR, Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson's comment that the administration will be looking at the chairman's budget is reassuring in comparison to the Labour group leader's dog-in-a-manger riposte that he will be boycotting this year's civic dinner (Star, October 7).

I feel that if the ruling Conservative group had bit the bullet and cancelled the event, then Councillor Mark Wilkinson would have been the first to complain that Harlow was not stepping up to the plate and being counted!

Personally I found the function useful in reminding me that, when a councillor, I was only a representative of the residents and seeing the largesse of other authorities – with chauffeur-driven, flag bedecked Daimlers – we were in fact spending the minimum and obtaining good value.

However, I also thought that we should employ modern management principles and invite our hardworking and talented officers, too. To be honest I felt that I would have been quite happy to put my hand in my pocket and pay £10 towards the cost which I felt was all it was worth.

One thing does puzzle me about Councillor Wilkinson's call to set an example. Where has been the Labour group's example in the 40-year period they had their noses in the trough? Plenty of time to cancel the civic dinner during their watch, some might say.

What's best for all

SIR, Colin Slasberg has a gap in his memory regarding our former MP (Letters, October 14). Was it a different Bill Rammell that shouted long and hard against the imposition of student charges?

I wrote to him shortly before the Parliamentary vote after reading his "over my dead body" type resistance to any charges for students in local newspapers. History tells us the Bill was nodded through and Mr Rammell's name was nowhere to be found on the abstention or those voting against.

A week or two later I received a four-page letter from Mr Rammell, which I still have, telling me how Tony Blair had given him much new evidence on the matter and he was able to change his mind. I'm sure his promotion to the position of junior education minister at the same time had nothing to do with his change of heart.

Just to keep the balance, many recent past

Press ahead with regeneration

SIR, Where has all the regeneration gone? I noticed that Basildon has just announced a massive private development of its town centre, so we have to question when will our town centre get the regeneration we are so desperate for.

Since the Tories have taken control of the council the regeneration plans have gone backwards. The only new thing they have introduced is sponsored crates with trees in them by the closed down cinema. The leisure centre arrived 18 months late. All the local developments in Potter Street, Old Harlow, Clifton Hatch and Staple Tye have lost all energy and purpose.

Even the power behind the throne, namely Harlow Renaissance, is about to disappear, which I believe is a massive error in judgement.

So where is the motivation and energy that is expected from our political leaders? We looking for inspiration and all we get is apathy. Will the legacy of the Tory council be nothing more than wheelie bins and the Lee Dangerfield scandal?

Harlow expects and deserves better. We all have an investment in ensuring that Harlow isn't allowed to waste away from lack of drive and determination from our current council leaders.

Let's get this show back on the road and collectively make the difference for the benefit of our community.

Councillor Tony Durcan
Rundells, Harlow

politicians of any ilk have little interest in anything but the advancement of their own standard of living.

Note that our current Prime Minister, while Leader of the Opposition, only spoke out against the systematic raping of the public purse by politicians of all persuasions when the Daily Telegraph blew the whistle on it.

Robert Halfon as a new MP is not tainted by that brush, but David Cameron sounds about as sincere as Tony Blair to me. One by one his pre-election promises, just like Tony's, have gone out of the window. Gone with the wind, perhaps?

Politicians are not all the same but every Labour government in history has been the same in leaving us in a mess, this latest of Biblical proportion. I suppose the best that could be said about the present Liberal-led government is that it is just not possible for them to be worse than Brown and Co.

It would be really nice if the brainwashed of any political persuasion who see no way but their way could perhaps think of what is best for all of us, but I won't hold my breath waiting for it to happen.

We must tackle debt

SIR, Whilst I respect the integrity of Colin Slasberg's views in his letter, I do not accept that there is any inconsistency in my position whatsoever.

Gordon Brown left us with a public debt of £900bn plus. That means we are spending £120m a day just paying off interest. The reason why I support some economic cutbacks is because we have to deal with this horrendous debt.

I know most fair-minded residents would prefer that £120m a day in debt interest should be spent on public services and reducing taxation.

Secondly, your correspondent implies my support for a low tax, less intrusive government implies that I can't support public services. Nothing could be further from the truth. The reality is that, as the last 13 years has shown, big government does not guarantee good public services.

Over the past 14 years people have been taxed far too much without getting value for money for the public services they deserve. To take just one example, despite the billions spent on education one in three children leave primary school struggling to read or write.

I have met too many hard-pressed, hard-working families in Harlow – often with one partner working in the day and one at night and with two or three jobs between them – to know that our taxes are far too high. That is why I strongly back the Government in their pledge to raise the tax threshold for those on lower incomes.

My support for lower taxes, value for money public services and a bigger society rather than a big state in no way means I can't stand up for local or national successful public services if I feel them to be under threat.

How much better will it be if we can clear the nation's debt, get our economy back in order, keep our interest rates low, cut taxes and invest in public services. In doing so we will ensure our economy survives and that people will keep more of what they work hard to earn.

One final point: Labour's last Treasury minister left a note to his successor saying there was no money left. For this reason, even the last Labour Government said it was going to cut £40bn plus from public spending and before the election cut local Harlow services including the local Inland Revenue Office, the Territorial Army and £1.6m from the local learning and skills budget.

Were those cuts inconsistent with that party's current political position against cuts? I leave readers to judge.

Robert Halfon MP
House of Commons

Misery for motorists

SIR, Now that the dark mornings and evenings are upon us, we find that our daily commute into and out of Harlow on one of the few main trunk roads – the A414 from the M11 to Southern Way – is a constant drudge.

I am sure I am not the only one to find this infuriating as it can easily add a substantial amount of time to our working lives. I, along with many others I am sure, have to set off earlier to try to avoid being late for work. I wonder if during these hard times anybody has actually had payment docked for being late.

I am hoping that the final completed works prove worth the pain and resolve some of the problems that this busy section of road had at the best of times.

I certainly do not want to knock the construction team responsible for these works but do find the fact that we can go for weeks without seeing any sign, or only little sign, of work frustrating. I can only guess works are going on behind the scenes or below ground.

I wonder how many people are involved on this project and if the thought of increasing or possibly doubling the workforce could reduce or halve the remaining time to complete the works before the winter sets in.

I would like to see reports covering roadworks progress and a pre-warning of what's planned for the upcoming week, thereby giving us the opportunity to allow some time when cones seem to be moved for no reason but create big tailbacks.

Historic account

SIR, I read with disbelief that local historian Ron Bill has not been allowed to sell his book about the first 30 years of Harlow Council – at either the Museum of Harlow or the Civic Centre (Star, September 30).

My understanding is that the book is non-political. Indeed, our local MP was at the launch. The book outlines the achievement of the council over a 30-year period and should be viewed by the authority as an historic account of the time.

Come on, fellow councillors – let's allow this book to be sold as a record of all the hard work by previous councillors and officers of the council.

Councillor Bob Davis
Foldcroft, Harlow

Thanks for support

SIR, We would like to thank the community for their recent support for the Helen Rollason Cancer Charity at a number of recent events.

Having the support for our fundraising events is brilliant as it means we can continue providing our services to cancer patients in the area. Our cancer support centre in Sawbridgeworth has now offered over 500 appointments to patients and will mark the first anniversary of its opening on November 10.

Thank you to everyone who took part in the Welly Walk in Hatfield Forest, to all who came along for our special screening of Sex and The City 2 at Harlow Playhouse which raised approximately £1,200 and to those who attended the ladies' lunch at Coho.

Thank you also to the local businesses which have supported the charity. We really appreciate the growing support for the charity in the area and hope this will continue to grow in the coming year.

Care home worker stole cash from OAP

A CARE home worker who stole £700 from one of the elderly residents has been given a 12-month suspended prison sentence.

Julia Fretton (41), of Five Acres, Harlow, was employed by the Isabel Court Care Home in Hoddesdon where she was a key worker for a 70-year-old woman with speech and mobility difficulties.

But Luton Crown Court heard how last summer she stole money from her because she had pressing financial problems.

At a trial earlier this year Fretton, a mother of three, was found guilty of stealing £700. A charge alleging

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertssexnews.co.uk

the theft of £500 was dropped at the end of the prosecution's case and she was acquitted of another charge of stealing £241.94.

The theft of the money was described as a "shocking betrayal of trust" by the prosecution.

During the trial the court heard how Fretton would take the victim to the bank to withdraw money for her day-to-day needs. The cash was then logged into a book and kept in a safe.

On August 6, shortly before Fretton was taking a three-week break to visit her mother and family in Zimbabwe, there was another trip to the bank and a sum of £700 was withdrawn. The money was never accounted for.

Fretton claimed that when she tried to have the money put into the safe there were no senior members of staff on duty.

She said she left it, along with a message of explanation, in the office because her shift was coming to an end. She expected the office manager to find it when she returned, but it disappeared.

Fretton was given a 12-month prison sentence suspended for two years and ordered to pay £700 compensation to the victim.

Vandals cover Town Park pool sculpture in yellow spray paint

ANOTHER piece in Harlow's collection of public sculptures has been vandalised.

Shoal, which stands in the paddling pool in Harlow Town Park, has been covered with yellow paint.

The sculpture, by artist Will Spankie pictured right, was unveiled in July last year as a replacement for the Hilary Frew work Two Children On A Rock, which had also been vandalised.

The project was the winner of Harlow Renaissance's Hotspots competition, run in conjunction with the Star. Made from Kilkenny limestone, the sculpture depicts a shoal of small fish swimming around the circular stone. A number of the fish designs were produced in a workshop held by the artist with pupils at Burnt Mill School.

This week John Curry, vice-chairman of Harlow Civic Society, contacted the Star after spotting the damage.

"What makes someone so destructive that they are willing to cause serious damage to a delightful sculpture that, even in its short existence, has brought great pleasure to all those who have seen and touched it?"

Mr Curry said it was no coincidence the damage occurred after the main access to the paddling pool area had been blocked off by hoardings around the former swimming pool site.

"The paddling pool is now rather cut off and out of general view," he said.

"Whilst I would never condone graffiti, why didn't the vandals target the large area of white hoarding instead? At least restoration of that would be straightforward."

Joel Charles, chairman of Harlow Council's community & citizenship policy working group, said: "We are very angry and upset by this vandalism to a public sculpture and urge anyone with information on who was responsible to report it to the police or the council for investigation."

"We have to be careful when removing graffiti from sculptures so we don't cause any damage. We are checking whether the solvent used for graffiti removal will damage the stone before we attempt to remove it. "If the graffiti cannot be removed in the normal way we will have to investigate other options."

Library offers net novices a web taster

PEOPLE wanting to learn more about the internet are being encouraged to take advantage of taster sessions at Harlow Library.

The free classes at the library in Broad Walk will help first time surfers grasp the basics of using the world wide web.

The sessions are part of Race Online 2012, a national programme aimed at encouraging the nine million UK residents who have not yet taken to the internet to get online.

Jane Campbell, customer service adviser at Harlow Library, said: "We are really excited to get involved with Race Online 2012 and host taster events."

"It's a great opportunity for people to learn about computers and the internet in the familiar, comfortable setting of Harlow Library."

She added: "It doesn't matter if you have no experience using computers or have never been on the internet. These sessions will show how easy it is and the benefits it has to offer."

Councillor Jeremy Lucas, Essex

County Council's cabinet member for heritage, culture and the arts, said: "It is great to see our library services are proactively helping Essex residents to get online."

"Increasingly the internet is a useful tool in every day life, whether it is to learn about services, pay bills, shop or to keep in touch with family and friends."

The sessions will run from 10am-4pm on Saturday, October 23. For more information contact Harlow Library on (01279) 413772.

Man denies murder

A MAN accused of murder and attempted murder appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday. Simon Payne (39), of Spencers Croft, Harlow, denies murdering Anthony Farley (36) at Pennymead Tower, Harlow, on June 5 this year and the attempted murder of Clive Edwards (47) on the same date. Payne was remanded in custody until his trial which is due to take place in February.

Life-saver Donna joins Royal order

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW resident has been awarded a special honour approved by the Queen for her contribution to first aid.

St John Ambulance member Donna Deakins was invested into the Order of St John at a ceremony in the historic 12th century Priory Church in Clerkenwell.

The Order of St John is a Royal Order of Chivalry and each recipient is individually approved by the Queen who is its Sovereign Head.

People are only accepted in to the Order if they have shown exceptional service to its key foundations, one of which is St John Ambulance.

Donna, of The Dashes, has been a volunteer for the charity for more than 20 years. She joined as a cadet and progressed to the point where she now helps run her cadet division.

She was presented with the Order's insignia by Rodney Green, chairman of the Priory of England and the Islands.

"It's a real honour to become a member of the Order of St John and to receive it for doing something I love makes it even more special," said Donna.

"I joined St John Ambulance so that I could learn first aid and be the difference between a life lost and a life saved, but I never thought it would lead to something like this. I'm humbled."

Mr Green added: "I'm delighted to invest Donna into the Order of St John."

"Donna was honoured in recognition of her dedicated service to St John Ambulance, which is committed to making sure no-one dies through a lack of first aid training.

"As one of the charity's 40,000 volunteers, her work is integral to its work in communities across the country."

It is thought up to 150,000 people die each year in situations where first aid could have given them a chance to live. The charity believes no one should die because they needed first aid and did not get it.

A spokeswoman said the work of volunteers such as Donna is crucial in being the difference between lives lost and lives saved.

Masquerade ball aids cancer trials

A MASQUERADE Ball has raised £25,000 to support breast cancer trials at Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow and St Margaret's Hospital, Epping.

About 450 guests attended the evening at Manor of Groves Hotel, Golf and Country Club in Sawbridgeworth.

The event was organised by Jessica Bonnett, Fran Brabham-Neil, Juli Dosad, Jacque Kelly and Ashraf Patel.

Guests were invited to bid in a charity auction with lots including a meal cooked by celebrity chef Anton Edelman, dinner for eight at Gordon Ramsay's restaurant at Claridges, a holiday at Waves Hotel in Barbados and various football memorabilia.

Many auction items were donated by David Lewis and Chris Head of London boat builder Sunseeker.

Going to school to learn soccer skills

BUDDING young David Beckham will be able to hone their ball skills at football courses held at Passmores School and Technology College during the half term.

FA and UEFA qualified coaches from Pro Futures will teach new skills and drills to youngsters aged 4-16 during the week beginning Monday, October 25.

Boys and girls can attend any number of days during the week. Application forms can be collected from Passmores School reception.

Keeping calm for fundraising quiz

THINKING caps will be required for a charity fundraising quiz night to be held at the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way, Harlow, next Friday (October 22).

The event, which will raise money for the Calm Centre, starts at 7.30pm.

Tickets are £5 per person and available by calling (01279) 411330. Quizzers should take along their own food and drink.

Former Star colleagues give charities a run for their money

TWO former Star reporters have raised more than £600 for charity after completing the Run to the Beat half-marathon in London.

Joy Hale and Mark Fletcher were among 11,000 runners who took part in the 13-mile event held at the O2 in Greenwich.

Former Star news editor Mark, of Rectory Wood, Harlow, posted a time of 1hr 58mins, raising more than £300 for Oxfam in the process.

"I was hoping to finish in under two hours and was really pleased with my time," he said. "I was even more pleased when the finish line came into view as my legs were about to give up!"

Following Mark across the finish line in a time of 2hrs 17mins was Joy, of Radburn Close, Harlow. She also raised more than £300 for the World Society for the Protection of Animals.

"People's sponsorship made it all worthwhile," she said. "The day was enjoyable and I'm really pleased with my time."

● A SEVEN-strong team from Harlow-based solicitors Attwaters also competed in the run and raised £1,500 for the Brain and Spine Foundation.

The charity provided vital support for one of their colleagues after he suffered a brain injury three years ago.

Halfon Hotseat

LATER this month the Star will be launching an exclusive new column giving our readers the chance to quiz Harlow MP Robert Halfon on the issues that matter to you.

Halfon In The Hotseat will run as a fortnightly feature where the town's Conservative MP answers your questions on local and national issues including law and order, the health service, education and the economy.

We will select the best questions submitted by readers and put them to Mr Halfon, who will then give his opinions on the fortnight's hot topics in the following week's edition of the Star.

"I welcome the opportunity to reach out to my constituents through the pages of the Star and listen to their problems and concerns," he said.

"I want to get as much feedback from Harlow residents as possible, and the Star is the ideal forum in which to discuss readers' questions on key issues.

"There are no strict guidelines on what readers can ask me and I promise to give straight, honest answers on everything from housing problems to spending cuts."

To submit your question to Mr Halfon, email the Star at star@hertsexnews.co.uk or write to Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow, Essex CM20 1JW. All questions must be accompanied by the name and postal address of the author. Questions submitted anonymously will not be considered.

Crash trio escape with minor injuries

THREE people – two of them children – had a lucky escape when this Land Rover Discovery crashed at a Harlow roundabout on Sunday.

According to witnesses, the vehicle flipped over and ended up on its roof at the junction between the A414 and First Avenue.

Police, fire and ambulance crews attended the scene and the A414 was closed from the Edinburgh Way roundabout while the road was cleared.

A police spokesman said a man and two girls were slightly injured and taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital for treatment.

The roads were reopened at about 3.30pm.

Trade boost for shops in town centre

A SURGE in the number of people visiting Harlow's Harvey Centre has seen the shopping mall emerge from the recession on a strong footing, according to new statistics.

Although the town centre

By CHRIS MOSS

complex faces an uncertain future after owners Sapphire Retail went into administration earlier this year, new footfall and car park figures suggest the centre is quickly returning to its 2008 performance following a dip in business.

Automated footfall counters installed at entrances to the complex have recorded an extra 60,000 visitors per month since July, boosting the average monthly footfall figure to 840,448 – a seven per cent increase on the same period in 2009 and just short of the same period in 2008.

Car parking figures have also risen, with an extra 652 cars per month using the centre's multi-storey car park. This represents a two per cent increase on the same period last year.

Centre manager Bryan Young said: "There is definitely a positive shift in performance for many of our retailers.

Over the past three months we're hearing about year-on-year revenue improvements and monthly targets being broken."

He said the recent upsurge suggested stores could look forward to Christmas with confidence.

"By working with our retailers we can promote individual offers that encourage more shoppers in the build up to the festive period," he said.

"Our marketing strategy is centred on added value and offers and we've been working hard on this all year. I feel over the past three months we've been reaping the rewards of our labour but we must keep up the momentum."

Town centre development manager Richard Dennery added: "At a time when UK footfall figures reflect a drop in the number of people on the nation's high streets, it's good to see Harlow residents proving their loyalty and to see visitors continuing to select the town centre as their shopping destination of choice."

Pair accused of shotgun charge appear in court

TWO men appeared in court on Monday accused of possessing a sawn-off shotgun at a travellers' site in Harlow.

John O'Connor (60) and John Smith (42), both of the Elizabeth Way caravan site, stood in the dock at Chelmsford Crown Court.

Both are also charged with having an offensive weapon – a knife – in a Vauxhall Vectra on July 30 at Fern Hill Lane, Harlow.

O'Connor faces further charges of obstructing a police officer, driving with excess alcohol and driving whilst disqualified.

No pleas were entered and the case was adjourned until November 22 for a preliminary hearing.

O'Connor was remanded in custody while Smith, who is currently living in King Hedges Road, Cambridge, was released on bail.

Robbers with knife steal teen's phone

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a teenager was robbed at knifepoint by two men in Harlow on Sunday.

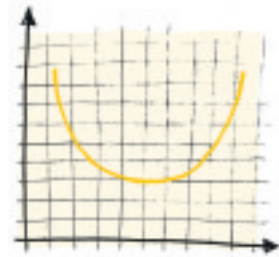

The 17-year-old victim, from Enfield, suffered cuts to his left hand and a wound on his right wrist during the robbery which took place in an underpass near Fifth Avenue at 6.20pm.

He was taken by ambulance to Princess Alexandra Hospital where he was treated and released.

The suspects, who stole the victim's mobile phone, are described as black, aged in their late teens and about 5ft 9in tall. They were wearing dark coloured clothing.

Anyone with information should call Harlow CID on 0300 333 4444.

Coco, the piglet that behaves like a puppy

A LONELY piglet is driving her new owners barking mad after becoming convinced she is actually a dog.

Four-month-old Coco was given to the St Francis Animal Welfare Shelter in Hampshire after the family she lived with decided they could no longer afford to look after her.

Since then the pint-sized porker has made a new best friend in German Shepherd Jay... so much so that her owners believe she thinks she is a dog!

Jay has taken Coco under her paw and protects her when they run around and play together in the fields. Centre manager Sueltan Day told reporters: "Coco and Jay are best friends.

"It is like a little and large partnership going on. They are brilliant together and Jay acts like her mother.

"They do everything together – eat, sleep and play. It is amazing and it would be hard to split the two up."

Coco now regularly goes on walks on a lead, fetches sticks and balls and even guards the other pooches.

Sueltan added: "It is funny to see her and the other dogs together.

"I genuinely think she believes she is a dog as she copies what they do!"

"She is a fantastic pig and good fun. She loves running around and playing with the other dogs. It is bizarre but amazing."

Coco is from the Kune Kune breed, a type of pig which is known to enjoy the company of other animals. However, it is rare for them to copy the behaviour of dogs.

Firm fined £1,000 for breaching insurance regulations

A FIRM which makes steel pipe-work has been fined £1,000 for not having the correct insurance to protect its employees.

Ductwork Environmental Services was prosecuted after an inspector from the Health and Safety Executive visited its site in Stort Mill, River Way, Harlow, in June.

Harlow magistrates were told on Friday the company had failed to produce a current Employers' Liability Compulsory Insurance certificate during the visit.

It admitted five breaches of the Employers' Liability Compulsory Insurance Act. It was also ordered to pay £750 costs.

HSE spokesman David King said afterwards: "The Act requires all employers have insurance to cover employees for injury or ill health caused at work.

"Failure to have such insurance could leave any employee who has an accident or suffers ill health because of work unable to obtain compensation for their suffering.

"This case should serve as a warning to all employers about how seriously HSE takes this issue."

Man's body lay near busy road for nearly a year

THE body of a man lay undiscovered for 10 months just yards from a busy road in Harlow, an inquest heard.

Thousands of motorists and pedestrians would have passed within yards of the remains of Peter Bushell which were found in a wooded area near the outdoor pursuits centre and Moorhen pub.

Chelmsford Coroner's Court was told on Friday that Mr Bushell, of Altham Grove, had suffered post traumatic stress following a motorbike accident in 1990.

As a result he was admitted to the psychiatric unit at Princess Alexandra Hospital as an informal patient in July 2007.

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

However, six days after he was admitted to the hospital he went missing from Stort Ward and was not seen again until his body was discovered by a workman in June 2008.

Mr Bushell was found by a tree with a belt around his neck.

Police inspector Craig Carrington said the body was discovered just off the busy A414 towards the Hertfordshire border and beyond a footpath, some grass and a slope to a wooded area close to a railway cutting.

"People would have been walking past without any idea he was there," said Inspector Carrington.

The inquest was told that Mr Bushell, who was identified from dental records, "probably" died from suspension by hanging.

The ligature either broke or snapped a branch of the tree, causing his body to fall to the ground.

The inquest heard that no note was found and there was no indication he was going to kill himself.

However, coroner Caroline Beasley-Murray recorded a verdict of suicide and said: "It was a deliberate action. He used the belt to kill himself."

Joyce joins hospice's care team to offer spiritual comfort and support

A CHAPLAIN offering spiritual support to patients and their loved ones has started work at St Clare Hospice.

Rev Joyce Smith begun her new role this week, working closely with staff and volunteers at the hospice in Hastingwood to provide holistic care and support.

"I am really looking forward to working with all the team at St Clare's and to being part of the ongoing development of this special place," she said.

Hospice chief executive Richard Cowie said: "The opportunity for a patient to have spiritual support is fundamental to hospice care.

"We are delighted to have Joyce working here as part of our team and know the work she under takes will have an immediate benefit to so many people.

"Using her skills such as the use of puppets, Joyce is able to start conversations and bring fun to the care people are receiving."

Man guilty of sex act in front of teenage girl spared prison

A MAN who committed a sex act in front of a young girl and was found to have child porn on his computer has avoided a jail sentence.

Joseph Collins (38), of Willowfield, Harlow, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court last month to a charge of engaging in sexual activity in the presence of a child aged 14 between January 31 and April 8 last year.

He also admitted three offences of possessing 37 indecent photographs of girls.

The case was adjourned to allow time for the preparation of pre-sentence reports.

Prosecutor Lesli Sternberg told the court Collins was chatting to the 14-year-old girl on a computer messaging link when he asked her to view his live webcam stream.

He then exposed himself and performed a sex act in front of the camera.

The shocked girl told her friends what had happened and police were informed after the girl's mother became aware of the incident.

When Collins was arrested, police officers seized his computer and discovered a number of indecent photographs – 13 judged at level 1 which is the lowest in terms of severity and 12 each at levels 3 and 4.

The court heard Collins had previous convictions for indecently exposing himself.

Neil Fitzgibbon, representing Collins, said in mitigation the defendant had behaved "totally disgracefully" but suggested lengthy intensive treatment would be of greater benefit to both the community at large and his client rather than a short prison sentence.

Judge Rodger Hayward Smith imposed a three-year community order with a sex offenders' treatment programme and three years of supervision.

The judge told Collins the offences were serious enough to warrant a custodial sentence but said he had been persuaded to impose the treatment programme.

Collins was also ordered to sign the sex offenders' register for five years and made the subject of a sexual offences prevention order preventing him from working, volunteering or communicating with children without their parents' permission.

Ben's tour of duty in warzone

FORMER Star chief reporter Ben Wilkinson has swapped headlines for the frontline in Afghanistan as he offers media advice to British troops.

He will spend the next six months working for the Ministry of Defence in Lashkar Gah, the capital of Helmand Province.

Ben (27), who was the Star's chief reporter until 2008, has taken up the role of a civilian media adviser.

He will also be working to promote greater understanding of the military's work among the British public and responding to questions from the UK and Afghan journalists.

"This job is very different from anything that I have done before and it's a very different atmosphere to the local newspaper offices where I started my career," he said.

"Media and public interest in British operations in Afghanistan is huge and, from a military perspective, it is very important for the mission that it is communicated accurately.

"But I also love the human interest element, communicating how servicemen really feel about being on tour and the jobs they are doing."

BUSY BEES NURSERY:

Tots had a blast when they celebrated Space Week with a number of out-of-this-world activities.

They dressed up as their favourite sci-fi characters to watch a space rocket touch down at the nursery in Harlow Business Park before learning all about the solar system.

The fun-packed week also saw the children help to bake space cakes, conduct experiments and draw pictures of aliens.

Nursery manager Kim Shinn said: "We had lots of fun with the space theme throughout the week and the children all had a fantastic time dressing up and learning more about the planets and outer space." (s)

SAINT NICHOLAS: Pupils showed their caring side when they took part in harvest festival celebrations on Friday.

Younger children at the school in Hobbs Cross Road, Old Harlow, attended a special harvest service and then delivered gifts of food to elderly people living in the local area.

Older pupils each donated a £1 which will go towards the costs of a Christmas party which the school holds every for local pensioners.

Special guests were the Rev David Welch, from St Mary's Church in Churchgate Street, and his curate Ola Franklin.

"It is such a lovely event," said school spokeswoman Brenda Newland. "The parents are always very generous in the amount of produce that they donate."

DIZZY DUCKS NURSERY:

Harlow MP Robert Halfon was invited to cut the ribbon to mark the official opening of the new nursery in the state-of-the-art Harlow Leisurezone complex.

The nursery, which is based at the new sport and leisure centre in Second Avenue, opened its doors for the first time in June.

However, the official launch was put back until Friday when there was a party for he children after the opening ceremony.

Nursery's operations manager Claire Hunt said: "It was an absolutely brilliant day.

"The children loved meeting Mr Halfon and having their photos taken with him. Everyone was very excited that he could make it."

pirouettes into the Playhouse tomorrow (Friday) night with a dazzling new production of Swan Lake. A compelling story of mystery, romance and tragedy, the show features the mesmerising music of Tchaikovsky and will be brought to life by one of the world's best choreographic schools. The performance begins at 8pm and tickets cost £18.50 (£14.50 concessions / £12.50 children).

>>ART St John's ARC, in Old Harlow, hosts a new exhibition of works by members of resident amateur art group Angela's Artists from tomorrow (Friday). The mixed-media works will be on display until November 17 and admission is free.

>>MUSIC The Bon Jovi Experience – the only tribute band to have actually shared a stage with the American rock legends themselves – look and sound uncannily like the real thing, right down to frontman Tony Pearce's dodgy mullet. The group will rock the Playhouse on Saturday with hits including Livin' On A Prayer, Keep The Faith and Bad Medicine. The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost £17.

>>DRAMA A warts-and-all portrait of Ian Dury comes to the Playhouse on Sunday direct from London's West End. Hit Me! – The Life & Rhymes Of Ian Dury explores the highs and lows of the extraordinary career of one of Britain's most enigmatic pop stars. The show starts at 7pm and tickets cost £16 (£14 concessions).

Side-splitting spoof is a spiffing tour de farce

REVIEW

The 39 Steps
Harlow Theatre Company
Victoria Hall Theatre

IT has enjoyed cult status as a novel and inspired no fewer than three film adaptations but it is in its current guise of hugely successful stage spoof that musty spy shocker The 39 Steps really shines.

If parody – not imitation – is the sincerest form of flattery, then Patrick Barlow's affectionately mocking re-imagining of John Buchan's endearingly chaste and old-fashioned thriller is a veritable love letter to its source material.

The play brilliantly lampoons theatre's obvious limitations in staging epic tales, with a cast of just four actors playing over 100 parts between them and ramshackle sets and props recycled to hilarious, and often ingenious, effect.

But for all its low-tech laughs, the play can only be as strong as its hardworking cast. And it was testament to the skill and dedication of Harlow Theatre Company that this production was such a side-splitting triumph.

Buchan's unlikely Boys Own adventure was lovingly sent up right from the off, as stiff-upper-lipped hero Richard Hannay (a brilliantly plummy Alan Grant) unwittingly becomes embroiled in the murder of a sultry scarlet woman (the hilariously overblown Wendy Grant) with a ludicrous German aachsen.

With her last words still ringing in his ears, Hannay jumps on a train to Scotland in an ill-conceived bid to foil a sinister German spy intent on stealing British military secrets.

It's on his eventful journey that the scenery gags start to come thick and fast, with director Sharon Wilson and her backstage crew using wooden benches as the railway carriages Hannay leaps across to escape from the police, a ladder to represent the Forth Bridge and, best of all, some hilariously shambolic shadow puppetry to illustrate a crashing biplane.

When our chisel-jawed hero eventually confronts the dastardly

Professor Jordan (the tireless Martin Bedwell in one of 50-odd roles) his certain death is ludicrously defied by a bullet-proof hymnbook. "I'm not surprised," says the local sheriff (Bedwell again). "Some of these hymns are terribly hard to get through."

But the most fun of all is had by Bedwell and his shape-shifting sidekick, the ever-brilliant Jim Thompson, as they swap hats, clothes and even genders to play more than 100 parts between them without corpsing once.

If the tomfoolery came at the expense of the thrills and spills of the original story, the non-stop laughs and sheer pace of the play more than made up for a lack of suspense.

All in all, another jolly good show from those spiffing chaps at HTC.

Rock 'n' roll as it was meant to be

REVIEW

The Jim Jones Revue
The Square, Harlow

IF the idea of a motley bunch of 40-somethings cranking it up to 11 and belting out garrulous golden age rock 'n' roll sounds like a bad night down the Dog & Duck, you've obviously never experienced the supercharged swing rush of The Jim Jones Revue.

Largely ignored by the record-buying public since forming in 2006, the Brit quintet are finally getting some of the recognition they so richly deserve and a rare TV appearance on Later With Jools Holland earlier in the week certainly didn't do ticket sales for Friday's sold-out gig at The Square any harm.

Greeted by the venue's biggest crowd since its relaunch two-and-half years ago, the psychotic punk 'n' roll preachers played out of their skins, rattling through an explosively visceral set of flame-grilled floorfillers.

The live experience is the key that unlocks the dizzying potential of the Revue, and it's here that the industry's indifference to their once-unfashionable sound has come as a veiled blessing, allowing the group to hone their craft the old-fashioned way with a non-stop touring schedule that has produced mind-blowing gigs in every sweat-pit the length and breadth of the UK.

This was rock 'n' roll as it was meant to be – all sex, death and Devil's blues, drinking deep from the same whiskey bottle as Jerry Lee Lewis while unashamedly flirting with the ghosts of so many greats.

Revivalists they may be but middle-age hobbyists they most certainly ain't. There was more heart, soul and adrenaline in the brutal, blistering boogie of standout tracks Elemental, Rock 'n' Roll Psychosis and Killing Spree than most bands half their age could ever hope to muster.

If you missed them this time, don't make the same mistake again.

They're here to save your soul, so open wide and drink in the rock 'n' roll.

The rise and rise of the Facebook phenomenon

new this week

THE SOCIAL NETWORK certificate 12A 2h

ON July 21 this year, social networking site Facebook proudly welcomed its 500 millionth user to the online fold. It's a mind-boggling statistic, even more so when you consider that seven years ago it didn't exist. In less than a decade an idea born in the hallowed corridors of Harvard University has quite literally taken over the world and changed the way we communicate. Like all good ideas, the site has made its creators very wealthy. But as Ben Mezrich's book The Accidental Billionaires chronicled, the turbulent history of Facebook led to not just one but two lawsuits. Working from a screenplay by Aaron Sorkin, director David Fincher employs a fractured chronology to dissect the jealousy and betrayal which underpinned the success of the site.

The Social Network opens by introducing central protagonist Mark Zuckerberg (Jesse Eisenberg), a computer nerd whose lack of social skills become apparent when he is deservedly dumped by his girlfriend (Rooney Mara).

In revenge, Mark spews bile in an online blog, then creates a crude website which racks up 22,000 hits in two hours and brings the nerd to the attention of Diya Narendra (Max Minghella) and twins Cameron and Tyler Winklevoss (Armie Hammer), who want Mark to programme their internal social networking site.

Soon after, Mark approaches friends Eduardo Saverin (Andrew Garfield), Dustin Moskovitz (Joseph Mazzello) and Chris Hughes (Patrick Mapel) with an almost identical idea.

The whole campus excitedly logs on and the friends expand to Stanford and eventually across the Atlantic, before Sean Parker (Justin Timberlake), the entrepreneur behind Napster, becomes involved and offers Mark his advice.

The Social Network is technically flawless, powered by Fincher's dazzling direction.

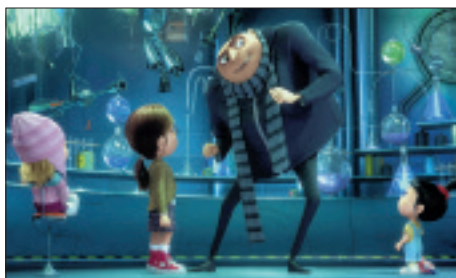

Eisenberg's compelling, one-note performance fails to reveal any chinks of humanity beneath Zuckerberg's thick skin. Indeed, to the final frame the character is an emotionally cold and unsympathetic loner which leaves us with no-one to root for as the legal battle turns nasty.

Criminal mastermind Gru (voiced by Steve Carell) seethes with envy after new villain on the block Vector (Jason Segel) steals one of the ancient pyramids and replaces the monument with an inflatable.

With his reputation on the line, Gru plots to steal the moon using a shrink ray gun from Vector's laboratory. However, the lair is heavily fortified so Gru adopts three orphaned girls – Margo (Miranda Cosgrove), Edith (Dana Gaier) and Agnes (Elsie Fisher) – and cleverly uses the children to breach the defences.

By the time Gru has purloined the shrink ray he has forged a bond with the girls and he must contemplate giving up his life of crime to become a father or send them back to the orphanage.

Aston celebrates racing glory

By Iain Dooley

ASTON Martin doesn't do half measures. When the company says that its products are thoroughbred sports cars it really means it.

To prove the point it has taken to occasionally racing the stuff it makes. Recent years have seen Aston Martin compete in the popular Nurburgring 24-hour endurance race with road registered Vantages.

And after securing a string of class victories, you can't blame Aston Martin from wanting to make a fuss.

As a way of celebrating, it has produced a special edition V8 Vantage – the N420. This isn't the company's first effort – there was also 2007's N400 – but it's clear the N420 is not a cynical attempt to cash in on racing glory.

The detailed changes made to the V8 Vantage donor car are enough to make this special edition, well, special.

In true race car tradition the N420 is louder than a regular Vantage. No mean feat in itself, the 4.7-litre V8 powering the Vantage family is already a vocal participant. The N420's sports exhaust not only allows the V8 to breathe more freely but also generates a harder edged tone that befits a car with a proven

FACTfile

Aston Martin V8 Vantage N420

from £96,995

Engine: 4.7-litre petrol V8 unit developing 420bhp
Transmission: 6-speed manual transmission driving rear wheels
Performance: Maximum speed 180mph, 0-62mph 4.8 seconds
Economy: 21.4mpg (combined)
CO₂ rating: 312g/km

racing pedigree.

That the sonic enhancement can be heard lower down the rev range is a welcome bonus. Remember, for all its leather and plush trimmings, the N420 is more than capable of hitting the track and turning in respectable lap times. All that's missing is a roll cage and other safety paraphernalia.

With the N420's V8 motor unchanged from the donor Vantage, 420 horsepower remains good enough in the real world to see the wrong side of the national speed limit in no time at all. The sprint to 62mph takes a brisk 4.8 seconds and it all stops at 180mph – on a track, of course. But the numbers only tell half the story. The subtle changes to the Vantage have resulted in a useful change in the car's character. Much of the credit for this must go to the 27kg weight reduction programme and the inclusion of Aston's Sports Pack. The former sees carbon fibre used for the car's lightweight seats and the likes of the front aerodynamic splitter and rear diffuser. The Sports Pack is a carefully chosen bundle of revisions to the springs, dampers and anti roll bars, and it's these changes that see an immediate improvement to the car's agility. Yes, the ride is now a little firmer but the steering is more accurate and responsive. Thankfully there's still enough suspension compliance on battered B-roads to make a countryside drive fun, although it's on larger arterial roads where the N420 shines.

Simply put, the N420 is an engaging and intoxicating experience. You sit low down in those figure-hugging carbon seats and the N420's compact size ensures a level of agility that's hard to find in the some rivals that claim to be performance cars but are really bloated Grand Tourers.

Opt for Aston's Sportshift gearbox over the standard fit six-speed manual transmission and you're another step closer to that full-on race car experience. This 'semi-auto' unit is essentially a manual box with the clutch action automated for your convenience and to reduce gearchange times.

The fully auto mode does a good job but taking personal charge of shifting via the column mounted paddles is the way to go. You'll need to feather the throttle to smooth the gearshifts, but getting it right is a rewarding experience. It works best with a fair few revs dialled in and it's when you're really motoring that you fully appreciate the gearbox's advantages.

Far from being a bone-jarring experience, the N420 is an impressively rounded performer, certainly in the context of a fast and focused road car. The steering's wonderfully direct feel and the car's rasping and occasionally shrieking exhaust note are just two of the many highlights.

Predictably, there's a modest cost premium associated with the N420 over a regular Vantage before you add the Sportshift gearbox. Only you and your bank manager will be able to make that judgment call.

That said, all that extra carbon fibre doesn't come cheap and the associated performance enhancements are genuine improvements.

Viewed as a whole, the N420 is a worthwhile addition to the V8 Vantage line-up and for someone with even a passing interest in the GT racing scene, well worth the extra outlay.

Scrap

Driver and Vehicle
Licensing Agency

End of the road
for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

BERR

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Fighting for a football future

By ALAN SCOTT
Sports Editor
alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

WHEN Sierra Leone international Salifu Samura steps onto the football pitch, for a brief period he tries to forget about the genocide which destroyed his country and robbed him of his mother when he was just three years old.

Samura (21) is one of two international footballers from the war-torn West African nation who have been living in Harlow while on trial at Harlow Town FC.

The defender, and forward Duade Kanu, also 21, are not just playing to earn a living for themselves; they are fighting for a contract so their wages can transform the lives of up to 20 family members back home in Freetown, the Sierra Leone capital.

The 11-year conflict, which began in 1991, left a trail of destruction. Tens of thousands of people died, while 2 million people (a third of the population) were displaced as the Revolutionary United Front fought for control of the country.

The war officially ended on January 18, 2002.

Two years into the conflict Samura lost his mother.

Samura, who plays for Freetown-based football club FC Kolon, has captained his national team at U-17 and U-20 level and has earned 28 caps.

Kanu has eight caps and plays for East End Lions.

Platinum Sports Management, the company which owns Harlow Town FC, has stumped up thousands of pounds to bring the players over.

They have been staying at the Park Inn in Southern Way.

The duo made their Hawks debuts in a reserve team match against Cheshunt last Wednesday.

The pair were in the stand for the home win over Wingate & Finchley in Ryman League division one north last Saturday.

The pioneering project has been coordinated by a former Leyton Orient team-mate of Tommy TERROR: Soldiers as young as 11 or 12 were recruited by the rebels during the civil war in Sierra Leone which ended in 2002. Inset, Gel Page

Cunningham, the co-owner of Harlow Town FC.

Older readers may remember O's right-back Gel Page. Today he helps run West African Relief, a hands-on charity targeting poverty in several West African nations which have been destroyed by war and poverty.

Page (48), whose wife is from Sierra Leone, has seen at first hand how the country was destroyed by the rebels.

"Soldiers would bet five dollars to see if a pregnant woman had a boy or a girl. They would then cut the woman open to see if it was a boy or a girl.

"Salifu lost his mother. She was killed by the rebels. Duade lost his cousins. A machete was used to cut their arms off. It was brutal.

"The facilities are very poor. Their [Samura and Kanu's] homes don't actually have any running water or electric. They are really living under harsh conditions," explained Page.

"If they are able to play here this won't just help two West Africans – it will help 20 people. They each have 10 dependants – they have younger brothers and sisters and older relatives. They look after their grandparents. Small things like a bag of rice, a bag of charcoal or school fees make all the difference."

But the footballers don't want hand outs or sympathy. They want to work hard and build a career to transform the lives of not only themselves but their families.

Page said: "We don't want to give them medicine – we want to give them a job. They don't even have a grass pitch to play [football] on. They have one meal in the evening every day [in Sierra Leone].

"Despite the fact that they are professional footballers they don't live a life like one. They are recognised in the streets every where [in Sierra Leone]."

The pair fly back to Sierra Leone on Sunday but hope to secure a working visa to return to this country.

Hawks' African stars 'good enough for Football League'

THE young triallists from Sierra Leone are already good enough to play in the Coca-Cola Championship.

That's the belief of former Leyton Orient player Gel Page, who has helped coordinate the project to give Salifu Samura and compatriot Duade Kanu the opportunity to play for Harlow Town FC and build a career in England.

Page, of the charity West African Relief, hopes the pair can earn a move to a professional club in the Football League.

club," he said.

And the former Orient right-back says the charity owes a huge debt to the sports agency Platinum Sports Management – the owners of Harlow Town FC – and in particular co-owner Tommy Cunningham, pictured right.

The initiative could end up costing the company more than £8,000.

"Platinum Sports have made it financially possible. They deserve a lot of credit," said Page. "It might be an investment for the future, but it's a fantastic opportunity [for Samura and Kanu].

"Agents are known as pushy and domineering but what Tommy [Cunningham] has done is a more charitable approach. He has brought them here and they have the luxury of personal training. He has given them the opportunity to play for the reserves. He has not put any pressure on them. He is willing to give these guys a chance. "It's a completely refreshing perspective. He is doing something other people do not consider. Platinum are the first to step up and help and we will always be grateful for that."

Page said: "We could have taken them to a professional club and they could have been there for two or three days and thrown to the wolves. They want to succeed. This is about changing their lives."

They have represented Sierra Leone in Turkey, Malaysia and Belgium along with Africa.

Their last game for their country came in an impressive 1-1 draw with 2010 African Cup of Nations winners Egypt in an African Cup of Nations qualifier.

They have played in African, World Cup and Olympic qualifiers.

They were given permission to miss two internationals as they try and build a life and a career in England.

They missed a qualifier against Liberia for the Olympic Games in London, plus a prestigious friendly against South Africa.

Hawks first team boss Kevin Warren has been impressed by the Africans and hopes they can play in the Ryman League for Harlow Town once the club has finalised the necessary paperwork.

"They are both cracking lads. They have a great attitude and a lot of ability. They won't let anyone down. We are just waiting for clearance to come through," he said.

Heavy defeat for Rams as miserable run continues

THE Rams were unable to halt their losing streak when they lost heavily at Chelmsford.

The hosts scored seven tries and the first came after 10 minutes on Saturday.

Nick Hankin jinked past two men before touching the ball down under the posts. Dan Trayler kicked the conversion.

Harlow then had an excellent 10-minute period but the home defence stood strong.

Chelmsford extended their lead to 12-0 when Ashley Wright nipped in to score an unconverted try in the corner.

Almost directly from the re-start, a Harlow kick was picked up by Trayler and he dashed 70 yards to score a try which he converted.

Just before half-time Harlow got their only points of the game when Michael Dobson kicked a penalty and the hosts led 19-3 at the break.

Chelmsford's next try came after the Rams defence was wrong-footed and Hankin broke to touch down. The conversion was kicked by Trayler.

Trayler then set up Warren Booth for the hosts' fifth try. This conversion was missed.

Prop Jarred Taylor broke 60 yards to score a try under the posts and this was converted to further embarrass Harlow.

Shortly before the end, Hankin broke past a few visiting defenders before scoring his third try which Wright converted.

HARLOW (squad): Banks (Webb 50), Mackie, L. Bowering, Vanbeck, Bates, Dobson, Woodington, Lane, Romaine, Prindiville (Cunningham 55), Hawkins, Palmer, Barr (Treacher 55) M. Bowering, Roberts.

Other Harlow results: women - National Challenge South East (North) div two: Tabard 17, Harlow 12 (Harlow try scorer - Nicky King, penalty try, conversion by Nicky Millman).

Friendlies - Bury St Edmunds U-16 31, Harlow U-16 10 (Sonny Handscomb penalty, try scorer - Zaci Channeoui, conversion - Josh Davies); Harlow U-15 69 (tries - Scott Whitby 4, Ryan Clark 2, Mitchell Sinfield 3, Rhys Davis 2, David Westgarth, conversions - Chay Clark 4, Luton U-15 22; Harlow U-14 19 (try scorers - Charlie Robinson, Connor Davis, Jack Almond, conversions Alfie Clark 2), Chingford U-14 15.

Ladies show clinical edge

JUST two points separate the top six teams in the premier division after Saturday's results.

Harlow are in 4th place after a comfortable 3-0 win against Havering.

Harlow captain Emma Tweddle converted a penalty corner from Sonya Amos to put them ahead on seven minutes.

Havering were desperately unlucky two minutes later when their centre forward hit a post with the empty goal at her mercy. Goalkeeper Linda Rowley was on hand to shepherd the rebound to safety.

Harlow doubled their lead when Carolyn Rushton dragged the ball back to Amos on the penalty spot. She pulled the Havering keeper out of position and Carolyn Rushton was on hand to slam home the loose ball.

Havering continued to cause the home side problems with their quick restarts but were unable to break through the hosts' solid defence.

Havering were on top in the second half and were denied by a goalline clearance from player-of-the-match Jo Chambers in the Harlow defence.

Rushton wrapped up proceedings with 10 minutes remaining when she fired in a fierce shot from an Georgina Esterhuysen penalty corner.

HARLOW: Rowley, Shearman, Hansson, Chambers, Trimble, Douglas, Rushton, Tweddle, Ferdinando, Figo, Byers, Price, Amos, Esterhuysen.

● HARLOW'S woes continued in the East Men's Hockey League as they lost 6-1 at home to Havering II in division four south east.

Contest in Cruse control

ROSSELL Pits near Ely was the venue for the Stort Valley Angling Society September coach outing.

Seventeen members of the Harlow club, plus two guests, weighed in with a 261lbs haul.

Danny Cruse was first with 78lbs 4ozs of bream, tempted by ledger-fished worm.

Bill Beehan was 2nd with 74lbs 5ozs, some 20 pounds ahead of son Steve who weighed in with 54lbs 13ozs.

The Society's annual 'special outing' took place this year on the river Severn at Bewdley in Worcestershire, with seven members and a guest making the trip.

Horrendous weather conditions for the most part made fishing very difficult, but top spot on the day went to guest Chris King who bagged three barbel to 9lbs 2ozs and one chub of 21lbs 10ozs for a total weight of 23lbs 10ozs.

However, the top member with two barbel weighing 9lbs 4ozs and 5lbs 2ozs was club secretary, Bob Groom.

Twins shine

HARLOW Athletic Club members attended the first Essex League cross country match of the season on Sunday at Stanford-le-Hope.

In the Under-11 2km race there were outstanding performances from the Harknett twins Lewis and Owen, who were 3rd and 5th respectively.

In the U-11 girls, the reigning English independent schools champion Molly Gardner was 3rd with Lauren Barker finishing a well deserved 8th place.

The boys U-13 3km race saw Harlow finish 6th with Jamie Rushworth 20th, Christian Barker 36th, Joe Barley 37th and Sam Randall 49th.

Narrow defeat in Hawks' first away trip

THE Hawks suffered defeat by the narrowest of margins in their first away league game of the season.

Harlow started out the stronger of the two teams, taking an early 6-2 lead through the hard work and the offensive rebounding of Simon Atkinson.

The first quarter proved a scrappy affair as both teams played tough defence and the hosts edged it 11-8.

Good decisions on offence resulted in easy scores for Luke Atkinson and player-coach Shab Niaz, who chipped in with 10 points in the second period

Enfield Merics 64, Harlow Hawks 61

Herts County Basketball League, division one with three crucial three-pointers and one free throw.

Hawks continued their great defensive effort and went into the half-time break 30-24 up.

The second half started with Hawks struggling to find their offence spark and they looked a little disjointed.

Meanwhile, Merics found a way to penetrate the Hawks defence with their star player heating up and scoring 15 points in the quarter.

Russ Allan and Luke Atkinson kept the scoreboard ticking over for Hawks, showing great composure at the free-throw line as the visitors trailed 46-42 at the final break.

The fourth quarter saw both teams trade baskets for 10 minutes.

With Hawks' offence struggling, Nick Moss decided to attack the middle of Merics defence but he was quickly fouled out.

A late effort from Luke Atkinson with a nice post move and a three-pointer kept the Hawks in the game but they could not overturn the three-point deficit as Enfield held on.

Coach Niaz said: "We played really well in the first half with an excellent team effort at both ends of the floor.

"However, in the second half we just missed a lot of open outside shots which we would normally knock down, these in addition to quite a lot of missed easy inside scores throughout is what cost us the game."

HARLOW HAWKS: S. Niaz (17pts), L. Atkinson (15 pts), Allen (12pts), Moss (11pts), S. Atkinson (4pts), Z. Niaz (2pts), Norkelinas, Haddow, Jones.

Hunter shoots down play-off contenders

Harlow Tn 1, Wingate & Finchley 0

Ryman League, division one north

LEON Hunter got the all-important goal and the headlines but it was a brilliant team performance that ultimately bodes well for Harlow Town's chances of securing promotion this season.

Saturday's win over play-off contenders Wingate & Finchley means the Hawks have beaten three of the sides expected to challenge for promotion already this term.

Central midfielder Hunter has joined from Hornchurch after a spell at Boreham Wood last term when he helped them to promotion.

Harlow made the Londoners - who reached the play-offs last season and were coming into the match on the back of a five-game winning streak - look rather ordinary.

Hawks skipper Leo Roget was

UNDER THE COSH: New signing Leon Hunter, far right, looks on as Dave Cowley slips a pass beyond Wingate's former Hawks midfielder Jordan Fowler (HSP0685264). Inset, debutant Hunter a colossus at the back alongside Laurie Stewart, while debutant Sacha Opinel, signed from Farnborough, has helped make the back four into a very tough unit.

Goalkeeper Rhys Madden was also excellent, making two top saves, and the watching James Hasell will know he has a fight on his hands to win back his No.1 shirt.

Harlow were denied what should have been an opening goal on 13 minutes when Che Stadhart was through but deemed offside.

Madden did well to stop a 20-yard shot from Lewis Jones which looped up after deflecting off Roget.

Stadhart's 34th-minute half volley was superbly saved by Wingate's former Bishop's Stortford keeper Gavin King as Harlow failed to turn their first-half dominance into goals.

Wingate showed they were not just making up the numbers when Jones' powerful strike was brilliantly pushed into the bar by Madden before the danger was cleared as half-time approached.

Hunter scored just 44 seconds into the second half when he hammered home from 10 yards after a poor clearance from Wingate right-back Marc Weatherstone who was trying to block a dangerous cross from the right from Ferguson.

Madden did well to block Josh Cooper's shot but it was the hosts who fashioned more chances and both Stewart and Clark Akers went close.

Wingate had few chances until late on but resolute defending from Roget and Stewart ensured they were kept out.

It was hearts in mouths time when Donny Barnard made a rash challenge on Wingate striker Chris Chase in injury-time, but no penalty was awarded and the hosts deservedly kept all three points.

Hawks boss Kevin Warren said: "It was a tough game. Wingate and Finchley are a good side. They were never going to come here and lie down. We limited them to a chance in the first half and one in the second.

"The boys worked really hard and got their reward. Leo and Laurie were big and strong. The back four were tremendous."

HARLOW TN: Madden 7, Barnard 6, Opinel 6, Roget 8, Stewart 7, Kilapi 5, Hunter 6, Akers 7, Stadhart 7 (Barnes 90), FERGUSON 8, Cowley 7 (Bradbury 83). Subs not used: Wheeler, Hasell (gk). Att: 282. Yellow cards: Stadhart.

Returning hero to share striker workload

HAWKS boss Kevin Warren believes new signing, striker Jamie Richards, can ease the pressure on Hawks' loan target man Che Stadhart.

Richards has switched back to Harlow Town from Ryman premier side Hornchurch.

Hawks boss Kevin Warren said: "His return will please the fans. He will strengthen the squad. Che Stadhart has done ever so well up front."

He added: "I do not think Che can do that work in week in week out. He needs a bit of help. It will share the workload. It will increase competition for places."

Left-sided utility player Louis Riddle has been suffering from a hamstring injury, but came back as a substitute in Harlow's game at Cheshunt (see right).

Riddle came through this game okay and could be in the squad for Harlow's FA Trophy first qualifying round home tie against Zamaretto League premier division side Bedford Town this Saturday.

Midfielder Andy Porter is still a week or so away from competing for a starting spot in the first team as he returns from a dislocated shoulder injury.

Warren said: "He still needs two lots of 90 minutes in the reserves to get him up to speed."

Bedford are one step above Harlow in the non-League football pyramid.

Skipper Leo Roget (ankle), Stadhart (hamstring and back) and midfielder Clark Akers (sore knee) all missed Tuesday's game, but should be available.

Warren added: "Clark was a sub on Tuesday and Leo and Che needed a rest. They should be OK."

"We have had Bedford watched and they will be a strong side. I am looking forward to it."

He added: "We are at home and it's a good opportunity for us to upset them. We have done well at home this season and have only lost once at home against Needham Market."

Shock cup defeat against 10 men

A BAD display from the Hawks saw them knocked out of the Championship Manager Cup after a shock 2-1 loss at 10-man Cheshunt.

After Harlow had created a few early chances, the Ambers went down to 10 men on 14 minutes.

This was when keeper Joe Wright was dismissed for pulling down Harlow Town's Ben Bradbury in the box.

Striker Graeme Dearie went in goal and his first action was to pick the ball out of the net after Harlow's new signing, striker Jamie Richards, fired home from the spot.

Cheshunt 2, Harlow Tn 1

Championship Manager Cup, second round

"Jamie took his penalty well and showed good touches. He will be a handful," beamed Hawks boss Kevin Warren.

Cheshunt equalised on 31 minutes as Syrus Gordon took advantage of some poor defending to rifle past advancing Hawks keeper James Hasell.

The hosts went 2-1 up on 74 minutes. Chris Meikle lobbed Hasell from 25 yards.

Warren made two substitutions in an attempt to retrieve the tie and Harlow had a great chance on 86 minutes.

Richards and Dave Cowley linked up well to fashion an opportunity for Leon Hunter, but his shot was well saved by Dearie.

Warren said: "We took it for granted that we were going to win when they went down to 10. It was disappointing. They sat back and all credit to them. We did not make the most of our opportunities."

HARLOW TN: Hasell, Barnard, Opinel, Stevenson, Stewart, Kilapi, Hunter, Bradbury (Akers 81), Richards, Barnes (Riddle 75), Cowley. Subs not used: Porter, Wheeler, Madden (gk). Att: 106.

Four medals for England's Huckle

Huckle can look forward with growing confidence to the 2012 Olympics, taking place 30 miles down the road from his Harlow home.

His mother, Rosemary Huckle, said: "We are very proud. We are really pleased for him. He's still a junior (U-21). To achieve four medals from four events in his first Commonwealth Games is really brilliant.

"He is still a bit disappointed not to have got at least a silver in the 50m 3-position event."

Huckle is a member of the United Glass Rifle Club in London Road, Harlow.

Great run for Link

SERVO Link's 7-1 win over £2-a-Pint (Gate) means they have only dropped one leg out of 16 in the first two matches of the new Harlow & District Premier Darts League season.

Servo's Damian Green notched his first 180 of the season for his new team.

Admiral new boy John Cashman shot a 180 while team-mate Dave Galloway's 112 outshot secured a 5-3 win at Moot House.

In spite of a 180 from Steve Gosnell and a 110 outshot from Paul Greedy, Tye Green Foxes went down 3-5 at Staple Tye Colts.

Crusader battled out a 4-4 Draw with Colt Hatch Social.

Ronnie Yates tops the season's highest finish chart with a 121 outshot for Stow Snooker in their 6-2 home win against Small Copper.

Tye Green Whites won 6-2 at home to Golden Swift with the help of a 180 from Brian Howe.

Bronze beckons

England star Jo aims for medal joy at Commonwealth Games

NETBALL player Joanne Harten, right, was hoping to clinch a bronze medal this morning (Thursday) at the Commonwealth Games in India.

By the time these words are read, it will be known whether the former St Mark's pupil and her England team-mates have beaten Jamaica in the third place play-off match (start 7am).

The play-off is the result of a heartbreaking 51-45 defeat to Australia for England in the semi-final on Tuesday.

Having been level at 12-12 at the end of the first quarter, England stormed into the lead early in the second as Loughborough Lightning's Harten, of Mallards Rise, Harlow, scored vital points to help them to a four-point lead before Australia cut the deficit to 23-21 at half-time.

Australia were just a goal ahead moving into the final 15 minutes, but upped their game to score five quick goals.

This quickfire start to the fourth quarter proved an insurmountable challenge for England.

Chris Harten, Joanne's mother, said: "She was quite upset about the defeat but will be focused going into the game against Jamaica. We are extremely proud of her. She is the youngest player in the squad. She has a cool head on young shoulders."

She added: "I did not think she would have started as many games as she has done. It just shows the confidence she has and the confidence the coach has in her.

"Jo also said that she found it inspiring when [Dame] Kelly Holmes came and gave them a motivational talk before the New Zealand game last week. She has a few years still to come in the sport."

Mrs Harten paid tribute to Harlow coaches Carol Bull and Jean Cant who helped Joanne when she took up the sport at Tegate Netball Club.

"Without Carol and Jean, Jo would not have gone on to achieve netball fame."

The 21-year-old goal-shooter played a key role in the group stages for England.

They beat Barbados 81-20, overcame South Africa 54-36, lost 47-41 to New Zealand, defeated the Cook Islands 81-33 and then beat Papua New Guinea 89-31.

Duo secure third place at British Championships

Judo

THREE young members of Harlow Judo Club competed at the British Championships for 10 to 11 year olds – and two came away with bronze medals. The Championships were held at the National Sports Centre at Crystal Palace as players from all over the country fought for a national medal.

Harlow's Chloe Nunn had stepped up a weight and, after losing a fight in the knockout stages, she then won every fight in the repechage to take a bronze medal in the girls under 40kg division.

Joe Arnold showed great determination and battled his way to win a bronze in the boys +55kg division.

Freddy White fought hard and enjoyed some good wins, eventually placing 7th in the boys under 42kg division.

SUCCESS: Chloe Nunn and Joe Arnold on the podium with their bronze medals (s)

Heartbreak for Osagie in India

ANDREW Osagie just missed out on qualifying for the final of the 800m at the Commonwealth Games in India.

The 22-year-old athlete, from Northbrooks in Harlow, finished fourth in his semi-final on Saturday.

The first three runners in the two heats qualified for the final with the other two spots coming from the two fastest losers.

They were Osagie's England team-mate Darren St Clair and Australian Lachlan Renshaw who finished fourth and fifth respectively in the other semi-final in 1 min 46.92 secs and 1:47.26.

This meant that Osagie's time of 1:47.52 was just 0.26 secs outside the qualifying time required for the final.

The Harlow runner's semi-final saw a tight finish. By the end of the back straight four athletes: Kenyan Abraham Kiplangat, Ugandan Jimmy Adar, England's Niall Brooks and Osagie had pulled away.

Osagie moved to the outside at the start of the home straight, passing Brooks and moving into third.

However, a very fast finish from Wales' Joe Thomas saw him pip Osagie and secure the third automatic qualifying spot.

Kiplangat won the race in 1:47.09 from Adar in 1:47.15, Thomas in 1:47.22 and Osagie in 1:47.52.

Osagie qualified for the semi-final after finishing second in his heat on Friday.

The 800m final took place on Sunday. Boaz Lalang (Kenya) won the gold medal in 1:46.60.

Pages tear up personal best times at Tiptree

HUSBAND and wife team Dave and Janice Page both recorded personal best times at the Tiptree 10-mile race on Sunday.

Janice clocked 1 hour, 24 minutes and 25 seconds, while Dave registered 1:25.25.

They were among four Harlow Running Club members at the event in east Essex.

First Harlow finisher was Jamie Jephcott in a superb 1:10.11.

He was closely followed home by John Tennant in 1:10.56 which was good enough to win the Veteran 60 trophy.

At the Royal Parks Foundation half marathon, Harlow's Jared Bethell finished in a top time of 1:21.00.

At the Great Eastern Run half marathon, Grahame Thomas finished in 1:42.32.

On Saturday, at the first Metropolitan League cross country race of the season held at Claybury Park in Woodford, Harlow's Steve Murtagh was 95th in 30.19.

He was followed across the tough 5-mile course by Steve MacKenzie (176th, 33.04), Rick Ricketts (224th, 34.55) and Marc Lowers (227th, 35.03).

Other HRC times: John Tennant 230th 35.08; Sean Flynn 280th 37.42; Matt Jones 309th 40.25; Alan Cootes 310th 40.35; Jeff Tiplin 326th 42.01.

Four go but Richards re-signs

HAWKS boss Kevin Warren has shown his ruthless streak by axing four players, while bringing in fans' favourite Jamie Richards.

Striker Richards has rejoined from Ryman premier Hornchurch and scored in Tuesday's 2-1 Championship Manager Cup defeat at Cheshunt (see page 84).

Meanwhile, Sosthene Yao, right-sided midfielder Jeff Hammond, utility player Shaun Gliddon and forward James Bunn have been released over the last week.

Yao and Hammond were only signed in the summer but all have left due to a lack of first team chances.

Yao's exit was a surprise as he has netted four goals this term, but he has been squeezed out by the arrival of Steve Ferguson from Farnborough.

Warren has had Richards on the radar for some time. He left Barrows Farm when the club were relegated from the Ryman premier 18 months ago. He played for Boreham Wood in the

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Ryman premier last season.

Warren said: "He can play as a target man and has good touch and vision and an eye for goal."

On the departures, Warren said: "He [Yao] found himself on the bench for the last few games. Things were not working out. It's frustrating. He's travelling from Lewisham. We improved the squad with the likes of Ferguson. It made things awkward for him. We wish him all the best."

"Jeff [Hammond] was unlucky with injuries. He was in and out. Where we have improved on the right wing I could not see him playing. I need to be honest with the lads and there would not be an opportunity to play."

But the Hawks chief has not ruled out bringing in one or two more players, although his move for a player from a Blue Square South club looks unlikely.

Meanwhile, Warren is delighted with the capture of left-back Sacha Opinel and midfielder Leon Hunter, who made their debuts in the impressive victory over Wingate & Finchley last Saturday (see page 84).

Hunter, who scored against Wingate, was at Hornchurch after leaving Boreham Wood.

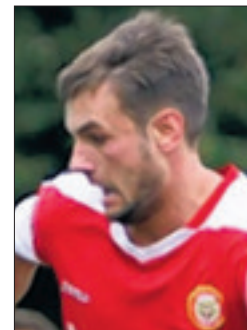

The Hawks boss said: "I've been pleased with their efforts. They both have experience and they will add quality to the squad. We know they are great additions."

"Leon got double figures [in goals] for Boreham Wood last season. Things did not work out there. I did speak to him in the summer. He was not enjoying his football [at Hornchurch]. He's a box-to-box player and a very tidy competitor."

There has been a huge amount of player movement at the club since early August, but Warren believes he has the right blend now as he targets promotion.

Warren said: "We want to be as strong as possible. Certain players don't meet expectations. We had a few suspended and that dictated decisions. You take it on the chin and push on. We don't change players for the sake of it."

"It's to improve the squad. We are nearly there and that will be our squad for the rest of the season."

Four medals for England star Huckle

JAMES Huckle was not far short of a winning a gold medal and can reflect on a fantastic Commonwealth Games debut in India which has seen him secure four medals from four competitions.

The 20-year-old, from Old Harlow, gained his fourth medal when he earned a bronze in the 50m 3-position rifle men's category, when the youngster had to contend with the elements.

Already in possession of two silvers and a bronze, Huckle overcame the windy conditions for third in this event on Saturday. After the qualification round, Huckle was joint third on 1,157 points with India's Imran Hasan Khan, behind Scotland's Jonathan Hammond on 1,164 and India's world champion Gagan Narang on 1,166.

Huckle then shot a superb 97.9 points, a new junior British record, and ended with 1,254.9 points. Hammond only shot 91.3 points but this was enough for the Scot to move second with 1,255.3 points.

Narang's score of 96.2 was not as good as Huckle's but he still secured gold as he finished with 1,262.2.

"In any final that's quite a gap to make up," Huckle acknowledged. "I might have done it, but I lost my concentration a bit on the final shots and ended up with one less than I got in the pairs yesterday."

Three perfect shots at the start of the final convinced him that he would not have any trouble securing bronze ahead of Khan, who qualified with the same total as him (1,157).

"After those I was in the right frame of mind," he said. "I was really confident that I had a medal."

The day before, Huckle gained a silver medal in the 50m 3-position pairs rifle with Kenny Parr, behind the India pairing of Gagan Narang and Imran Hasan Khan.

He had already combined with England colleague Kenny Parr to shoot down a silver medal in the 10m air rifle pairs in Delhi, and gained a bronze in the

NEW

Cook & Dine
Department on the ground floor, High Street entrance

Fishpools have been busy over the summer with some major refurbishment in key areas of the store. Go through the High Street entrance and a whole new world awaits you. A stunning new Cook & Dine department is designed to show china and cookware ranges off to their very best, plus mouth-watering brands including: Guzzini, Joseph Joseph, Emma Bridgewater, Brabantia, Circulon, Maxwell Williams, Villeroy & Bosch, Robert Welch and many more.

Opposite you'll find the brand new Home Accessories and Gifts department. Here there's all you need to complete your home in style. From oversized vases, to petit crystals, we're stocking some of your favourite brands. Wedgewood, Waterford, Swarovski, Parlane, LSA, & Newgate Clocks.

Last but not least, seek out our brand new Pictures and Mirrors Gallery on the first floor, showcasing the very best in wall art from the grand and ornate to the small and simple.
